

THE ROSWELL DAILY RECORD.

VOLUME 1.

ROSWELL, NEW MEXICO, MONDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 14, 1903

NUMBER 154

Roswell Should Be Well Represented At The National Irrigation Congress At Ogden, Utah.

In Honor of Miss Slaughter.

Mrs. Willard Stone gave a very delightful entertainment Saturday morning from 10:00 to 12:00 o'clock. The guest of honor was Miss Carrie Slaughter of Dallas, Texas. Mrs. Stone was assisted in receiving by Mesdames Veal, Bowman, Graham and Carson. When the young ladies were invited they were told to bring some of their belongings that they did not have any further use for and did not want, in unmarked packages. All of the packages were put on a table, and each young lady took one as a souvenir of the entertainment. They were allowed to swap if they cared to. When the time to open the packages arrived the building rang with laughter and merry voices. There was most everything in the packages, old antiquated hats, pictures of discarded sweethearts, old wearing apparel, and in fact most everything from a live cat to a summer squash. Miss Ella Lea brought the cat, and the box was tied with dainty ribbons and had the following wording on same: "Royal Bengal Tiger from the Wilds of South Africa." Miss Edith Farris drew the box, and the moment she picked it up she realized that there was something alive in it. She is not at all afraid of tigers, but opened the box with fear and trembling, as she thought it was a mouse. One can imagine her surprise when she found a dear little marmoset cat with a dainty ribbon around its neck and a little bell attached. They all tried to swat with her, but she was satisfied and would not trade.

At 12 o'clock a delightful Bohemian luncheon was served and all of the guests were compelled to wait on themselves. Those present were Mesdames Veal, Bowman, Kennedy, Graham, Carson, Misses Ella Lea, Edith Farris, Ruby Shoup, Maude Keller, Upton, Shaver, Prager, Fort Marie McPheeters, Spencer, McPheeters, Jean and Ethel Hamilton, Laura and Eva Hedgecoxe, Ruth and Helen Kessler, Cora and Lillian McCain, Slaughter, McCoy, Patton, May Moore, Anderson, Mabel Patterson.

The Car Leaves Tomorrow.

The Roswell car is being put in readiness today by Col. Page and his assistants. They are working like troopers, and the car presents a very creditable display, and too much credit cannot be given those who have donated the fine fruit and vegetable specimens. About everything that is grown in the Pecos Valley is exhibited on the car. E. H. Gamble has a display of his fine bottled waters, etc. The Joyce-Fruit Co. have a corner, with a picture of their grocery department and some vegetable products, also a Mexican sombrero and Navajo blanket. The car will leave tomorrow morning on the north bound train, and if you have anything you care to contribute, hustle it down to Col. Page this evening. He will be accompanied by James Reece.
